Arquiteturas no Brasil 1900-1990 by Hugo Segawa

Hugo Segawa

A arquitetura brasileira do século XX alcançou prestígio internacional como poucos países do mundo lograram atingir. Brasília é obra consagrada como uma das contribuições brasileiras às criações mais marcantes na cultura do século. Mas se esse reconhecimento é a face mais visível da Arquiteturas no Brasil 1900-1990 sua importância, não menos importante é reconhecer os múltiplos rumos e os processos na gênese dessa produção, tão alardeada e tão pouco examinada Arquiteturas no Brasil 1900-1990 em seu conjunto como realizações de um contexto conturbado como o que marcou a história do Brasil nos últimos cem anos.

Arquiteturas no Brasil 1900-1990 é uma obra que vem proporcionar uma visão abrangente e ao mesmo pace concisa da arquitetura brasileira no século XX, sob o signo da releitura do movimento moderno após a crítica do pós-modernismo - embora situe o moderno como o epicentro das inquietações do Arquiteturas no Brasil 1900-1990 século. Ao relacionar as intervenções urbanas como signos de modernização no ultimate do século XIX, o livro identifica as raízes de modernidades paralelas aos movimentos como a Semana de Arte Moderna de 1922. Realizações estas que passaram tanto pela arquitetura neocolonial quanto por diferentes manifestações arquitetônicas em três Linhas - modernismo programático, modernidade pragmática e modernidade corrente - caracterizando práticas distintas no país até a Segunda Guerra Mundial. "Arquiteturas no Brasil", ao mesmo pace que traça um landscape do período pós-Guerra, considerado o apogeu do prestígio internacional da arquitetura brasileira, narra as realizações da época e examina seus principais protagonistas - entre os quais Lúcio Costa, Oscar Niemeyer e Vilanova Artigas. Ao investigar as relações externas e internas dos arquitetos e da cultura arquitetônica do período, o autor estabelece um quadro referencial que balizou o desenvolvimentismo nas décadas de 1950 a 1970 - ascensão e ocaso de uma arquitetura que mergulhou num período Arquiteturas no Brasil 1900-1990 de incertezas e ausência de rumos, característico da chamada "década perdida": Arquiteturas no Brasil 1900-1990 os anos de 1980. Esta obra constitui, desse modo, uma leitura inovadora em vários aspectos das conquistas, das polêmicas e também dos malogros da aventura de construir espaços, cidades e edifícios num país em formação e em busca de afirmação.
