God of the Valley: A Journey Through Grief

Steve Griffiths

God of the Valley is written from the author's personal event of grief, in the course of the ailment and eventual loss of life of his spouse on the age of 36, and in addition via his pastoral paintings as a church minister with bereaved families. He writes now not as a knowledgeable counselor yet as anyone who has come across himself bolstered and comforted via God even within the darkest times. Starting with the hardest query of all--why?--Griffiths weaves his own tale with reflections at the bible passages that through the years have come to intend the main to him.

I learnt much from studying this e-book & want to suggest it to bereaved humans and those that aid them whereas present process their bereavement. It is excellent, inspiration provoking, stimulating & encouraging.
